

Chicago House

House. Empower. Thrive.

WHO WE SERVE:

Chicago House provides housing and resources for low income individuals and families who have experienced chronic homelessness or unstable housing and are living with or vulnerable to HIV/AIDS. Our clients consist of diverse identities within our LGBTQIA+, Black, and Brown communities in Chicago.

ABOUT CHICAGO HOUSE:

Established in 1985 amidst the height of the AIDS crisis, Chicago House initially served as a vital housing resource and hospice for individuals living with and dying from HIV/AIDS. Today, our foremost mission is to empower those living with or susceptible to HIV/AIDS to lead healthy, dignified lives. Chicago House shines as a nationally recognized community model in the realm of social service agencies, with remarkable client outcomes, including suppressed viral loads, improved overall health, and enhanced self-sufficiency, all contributing to our overarching goal of ending homelessness for the most marginalized in our community.

Chicago House takes pride in being the leading provider of housing solutions for the diverse identities within our LGBTQIA+ community — including Black and Brown members throughout the Chicagoland area — who are often underserved and at heightened risks for homelessness and unemployment. In addition to our housing programs, our innovative wraparound services directly address the social determinants of health, including employment and linkage to care, serving as essential foundations for dignified living.

Over the past two years, Chicago House has reaffirmed its commitment to the core mission, expanding our housing resources by ~75% through the introduction of new facilities on the South and West sides of Chicago. Simultaneously, we have pioneered innovative service models such as TransLife Care, which puts an emphasis on offering legal services and other community-specified needs. Our latest endeavor, Aging in Place, addresses the often-overlooked population of individuals aging with HIV/AIDS — providing stable housing and access to care with the ultimate aim of preventing institutional care for this vulnerable population.

As an established and prospering non-profit organization, 80% of our funding is secured through sustainable grant programs, while the remaining 20% is generously contributed by corporate and individual donors. Chicago House remains at the forefront of making a profound impact on the lives of our most vulnerable community members. With your support, we are on the verge of achieving even greater impact. We invite you to join us in our mission by supporting our work through your contributions and partnership. Together, we can make a lasting difference for our community.

“SHORT” ABOUT CHICAGO HOUSE:

Founded in 1985 during the AIDS crisis, Chicago House originally offered housing and hospice for those impacted by HIV/AIDS. Today, our mission is empowering individuals living with or vulnerable to HIV/AIDS to lead healthy, self-sufficient lives. We’re a nationally recognized community model in the realm of social services, achieving improved health and self-sufficiency for our clients, in service of our overarching goal of ending homelessness.

Chicago House is a leading housing provider for vulnerable communities, serving members of our LGBTQIA+ community — focusing largely on Black and Brown individuals and families — who have historically faced underservice and heightened risks for homelessness and unemployment. Our innovative programs are centered around the social determinants of health. At Chicago House, we believe all positive health outcomes begin at home.

KEY STATS:

Individuals provided with housing and wraparound case management services by Chicago House.

95%

of individuals in our Residential Housing programs never return to homelessness.

87%

of people living with HIV in Chicago House residences show an undetectable HIV viral load after a minimum of six months in our team's housing programs.

81%

reported improved mental health in the last six months

HIGHLIGHTED PRIORITIES:

Chicago House's pioneering housing-based programs are addressing the urgent social determinants of health, collaborating with individuals and families to establish the crucial foundations for independent living.

Through our groundbreaking Aging in Place initiative, we are addressing the urgent, unique needs of those aging with HIV/AIDS.

A critical 80% of our organization's funding is sourced from sustainable public grant programs, ensuring the continuity of our vital work, but additional support is desperately needed so that we can nimbly support the growing needs of our clients.

As disparities persist within our social and economic systems, especially for our LGBTQIA+ and Black and Brown communities, demand for our housing and wraparound services vastly surpasses our current capacity to meet it.

We provide compassionate, client-centered support services, including case management, linkage to healthcare, and employment services for the most vulnerable in our communities.

Today, we serve thousands of clients in Chicago, but with your help we can grow our impact by doubling the number of clients we serve in the next five years.
